RUNAWAY TEAM

ON MAIN STREET

Taking advantage of the driver's absence from the wagon, getting a drink of water, the fine pair of bay horses belonging to Flint Ray, the liveryman, became frightened and dashed wildly up Main street Monday morning. Fortunately the road was clear and no obstacle presented itself to the team until an effort was made to turn the corner at Purkey's store where a wagon belonging to Stokely Brothers stopped the runaway. No apparent damage was done to either team.

Four Children Die

The deaths of several children are reported this week. On Saturday a small child of W. B. Sanders died at Crestmont. The body was brought to Newport Sunday morning and prepared for interment after which it was taken to Asheville for burial.

A child of J. A. Buckner died Sunday morning and interment was made near its home Monday.

A child of Wood Harper of Eastport died Sunday morning and interment was made in the Union cemetery Monday.

The 3-months-old child of W. P. Enloe of Denton died Sunday morning and interment was made Monday.

BAINONIAN LADIES

MADE HIT HERE

Under the auspices of the Glee and and Tennis Clubs of the Woman's Improvement Club, the Bainonian Ladies' Quartette of Maryville gave the people of Newport a musical treat last Thursday evening when their program was rendered at the opera house.

The young ladies had a varied program, including solos, duets, quartettes and readings.

Anything in the line of clothing can be had the store of J. M. Kyker and Son's.

ODD FELLOWS

HAVE CEEEBRATION

The ninety-second anniversary of the founding of the order of Odd Fellows was celebrated at Crestmont Sunday by Newport Lodge No. 55, I. O. O. F.

The train leaving Newport at 9 a. m. was crowded, there being something between three and five hundred people aboard.

Upon arrival at Crestmont the exercises were held in the school house, Rev. J. M. Walters of White Pine, a prominent Odd Fellow, delivered the address of the day.

Not only were the Odd Fellows of the county represented but there were many outsiders present, and the general good conduct of those on the train was a subject of much comment. The train returned to Newport about 7 p. m.

WAGON STRUCK BY

TRAIN DRIVER HURT

While driving in the rear of some cars which were being shifted in front of the depot, Friday, the wagon of Henry Sweeten who is doing some hauling for the pike contractors, was wrecked and Sweeten painfully injured.

The switch engine had drawn a number of cars across the driveway in front of Robinson's warehouse and the last car was half over the crossing. Sweeten, driving a pair of mules attempted to cross the track and when the cars were backed, the wagon was struck. The train crew brought the train to a stop almost instantly, and serious damage prevented. The rear wheel of the wagon was demolished and Sweeten was thrown out, and suffered injuries to his back, painful but not serious. The mules made but little effort to get away, and were stopped after going a few feet.

General Manager J. C. Arbogast of the Champion Lumber Company was in Newport Sunday en route to Crestmont. A special engine was sent to Newport after him.

Roadman's Theatre

Opens Tuesday Night
JULY 18

I have remodeled the store building formerly occupied by J. S. & D. G. Allen, and have equipped it for a moving picture show. Performances will be given every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights. Tickets will be ten cents for everybody. Each night we will have two reels of pictures for each performance. There will be two performances each night. I have ordered for the first week the finest picture films that are made. They are newest of the famous Edison pictures, and cost me three times the price of the films usually shown in small towns. If I find these high class films are sufficiently appreciated, I shall continue showing the best grade. If patronage does not justify the best service, the lower priced films will be used. So it is "up to" the people of Newport whether I furnish a good show or not. My films for the opening week are the same as those used by the finest New York theatres. The machine I use is one of Edison's best. This will be primarily a moving picture show. Occasionally we will put on vaudeville or other specialties. I have instructed the film people to send only the most refined pictures, because I believe the people prefer that kind. If the high class kind is not appreciated, and I find the tastes of the people crave something wild and wooly, I shall give them that kind. Now, I have stated the matter to you fairly. If you want an amusement place where you can enjoy the evenings with your friends, help me by your patronage to establish such a place.

I have engaged one of our most talented young ladies to furnish music each evening. Illustrated songs and illustrated lectures on foreign countries will occasionally vary the program. I hope you and your friends will attend each performance, if you are sober.

Each show will be different.

M. A. ROADMAN.

FINE HORSE IS

SERIOUSLY INJURED

"Eller Miller," Ed Clevenger's buggy horse, was seriously injured Sunday afternoon in a fall from the embankment above the Tennessee & North Carolina Railroad, just above the Tannery school house.

The horse had been hitched a long the road there, and when an engine on the railroad passed below her, she broke the check rein and fell off the bank, demolishing the buggy. After getting up the horse ran a short distance to the T. & N. C. depot where she was stopped.

Investigation showed that the horse had sustained a ragged cut just above the heart, and but for the protection offered by a rib, the projectile which caused the gash would have penetrated the heart. Several stitches were required to sew up the wound. "Eller Miller" is a horse with a reputation and has a mark of 21 1/2.

ARRESTED FOR

BEATING HORSE

Sunday afternoon Flint Ray, the liveryman, hired out to Charles Tye, an employee of one of the pike road contractors, a one-horse team. Some time later he received word that this team was being abused, and there were a half dozen telephone calls from Jones' Hill in which it was reported that the driver was beating the horse with the but-end of the whip. Ray mounted a horse, and procuring a club went after his team, but fortunately for the driver, the owner did not come upon him. Returning to town Ray swore out a warrant for Tye's arrest and Deputy Sheriff Joe Cureton brought Tye in soon afterwards, great beads of perspiration dripping from the horse. Tye was committed to jail, pending a hearing before a magistrate on the charge of cruelty to animals.

Gabe Lewis Dead

Gabe Lewis, a well known Cooke county man, living near the Jefferson county line, died of consumption last Friday, interment being made near his home Saturday.
